Argan oil, called "liquid Moroccan gold" is a natural product which has been used for centuries by African women for cosmetic and therapeutic purposes. Argan oil is extracted from the tree Argania Spinoza that's also called "The Tree of Life". Its chemical analysis shows that it is practically useful for everything associated with the aesthetic outward - from head to toe. Argan oil has a strong anti-aging action. The high content of vitamin E helps in the efforts for reducing wrinkles and skin restoring. Polyphenols protect skin from harmful UV rays, tie up with the free radicals and slow aging.

Argan oil has a rich fatty acid composition. The high levels of poly-unsaturated oleic and linoleic acids contribute to the maintenance of healthy-looking skin through fighting successfully with its dehydration and loss of elasticity. They are important both to build and to restore damaged cell membranes. Argan oil is a natural moisturizer and it provides a healing effect for skin problems such as acne, psoriasis and eczema.
